MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE FIREARMS CONTROL AMENDMENT BILL, 2020

1. BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

1.1 Following a Summit on Firearms that was held by the Portfolio Committee on Police, and as part of his comprehensive approach to the problem of the proliferation of firearms in South Africa, the then Minister of Police appointed a Firearms Committee to review existing legislation for the control of legal firearms. The Firearms Committee, in its research found that gun violence was one of the main contributors to the cause of death in South Africa and that evidence showed that strengthening national gun laws, coupled with effective enforcement of gun laws, contributed to the reduction of gun deaths as well as violent crimes. The Firearms Committee produced a report which contained a number of recommendations relating to the legislative review. These recommendations contributed to the Firearms Control Amendment Bill, 2020 ("the Bill").

1.2 The Bill seeks to amend the Firearms Control Act, 2000 (Act No. 60 of 2000) ("the Act"). The amendments respond to the overarching policy principles of non-proliferation of firearms and the strengthening of the processes relating to the applications for firearm and ammunition licences and the management of firearms and ammunition. In the process of putting into operation of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2006 (Act No. 28 of 2006), some deficiencies in the Act, had been noted, namely that some consequential amendments are required in order to align the control over muzzle loading firearms with the control over firearms. Muzzle loading firearms have now been included in the definition of "firearms". The problems experienced by the Central Firearms Register in the timeous and proper consideration of applications for firearms and making decisions on such applications, the confusion on the proper interpretation of the provisions relating to the validity of competency certificates, the provisions relating to the issue of renewing competency certificates, the limitation on the number of firearms that may be issued to dedicated hunters and dedicated sports-shooters as well as the regulation of muzzle loading firearms are included in the amendments. In order to address the reduction of gun deaths and gun violence, firearm licences for self-defence purposes will not be permitted. Other amendments also include the designation of a Designated Firearms Officer at each police station, as far as is practicably possible, to improve the control over firearms in possession of the police and other Official Institutions and private security service providers.

1.3 The amendment also seeks to place a limit on the number of semi-automatic rifles and semi-automatic handguns that may be licenced to a dedicated-hunter or a dedicated sports-shooter.

1.4 In SA Hunters A.O v Minister of Safety and Security Case No: 33656/09, the South African Hunters Association sought an urgent interim order in the High Court to declare the firearm licences issued in terms of the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969 to be lawful and valid pending the finalisation of the main application as to the constitutionality of item 1(1) of Schedule 1 to the Act.

1.5 The main application was against the commencement and implementation of item 1(1) of the Act, which provides for transitional provisions. Item (1)(1) to the Schedule provides that any licence which was issued in terms of the repealed Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969 (Act No. 75 of 1969) and which was valid immediately before the date of the Act, remains valid for a period of five years from the date on which the Act comes into operation, unless such licence is terminated, cancelled or surrendered in terms of the Act. In addition, firearm licence holders must within this period apply for new licences in terms of the Act, lawfully dispose of any firearm not lawfully possessed and any firearm not disposed of may be forfeited to the State.

1.6 In the main application the South African Hunters Association were to argue that the item 1(1) of the Act infringed the constitutional right to ownership (of a firearm); the right not to be prosecuted and imprisoned for the possession of firearms that were legally acquired in terms of the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969; the right to lawful, reasonable and procedurally fair administrative action.

1.7 The SA Hunters Association maintained that the five-year period would expire before all the licence holders could apply and obtain licences and competency certificates due to backlogs in the South African Police Service ("the Service"), resulting in the applications not yet being processed and finalised in terms of the Act. Furthermore, the SA Hunters Association alleged that the State did not have resources to implement the administration necessary to finalise the renewal of firearm applications and new firearm applications. Some firearm licence applications had been declined. As a result of this situation many lawful licence holders would be subject to criminal prosecution by virtue of not holding licences to possess their firearms in terms of the Act, and their firearms would be forfeited to the State.

1.8 The High Court in the South African Hunters Association case held that a prima facie case had been made in respect of the pending main application as to the absence of a justification for the limitations of the constitutional rights affected by the impugned transitional provisions. The respondent could not show any justifications for the limitations. Furthermore, the North Gauteng High Court held that the legislature should have taken into account the available administrative facilities and should not have designed a transitional arrangement which cannot be implemented by the officials of the respondent.

1.9 The North Gauteng High Court granted an interim order pending the finalisation of the main application as to the constitutionality of the impugned transitional provisions as contained in Schedule 1 to the Act. The court ordered that that firearm licenses which were issued in terms of the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969 will be deemed to remain valid until the main application had been finalised.

1.10 Based on this judgment, the Bill seeks to propose amendments to give effect to rectify the anomalous transitional provisions contained in Schedule 1 to the Act.

2. CLAUSE BY CLAUSE ANALYSIS

2.1 Clause 1

2.1.1 Clause 1 of the Bill seeks to amend section 1 of the Act by inserting the definitions in the Bill that relate to "Authority" to indicate that it refers to the Private Security Industry Regulatory Authority; "Automated Ballistic Identification System", "ballistic sampling", "percussion/cap and ball firearm", "prohibited firearm" and "Service".

2.1.2 The clause further substitutes the definitions of "dedicated hunter", "dedicated sportsperson", "firearm", "Minister", "muzzle loading firearm", "occasional hunter", "occasional sports person", "professional hunter", "public collector" and "restricted firearm".

The clause seeks to amend section 2 of the Act by substituting paragraph (a) in the "Purpose of Act" to provide that the purpose is to restrict access to firearms by civilians and to comply with regional and international instruments of firearms control.

2.3 Clause 3

The Clause 3 inserts section 2A that deals with the principles of the Act and section 2B that deals with the objects of the Act.

2.4 Clause 4

The clause deletes section 3(2) of the Act which provides that no person may possess a muzzle loading firearm unless issued with the relevant competency certificate. This deletion is a consequence of the amendment of the definition of "firearm" that now includes "muzzle loading firearm".

2.5 Clause 5

The clause amends section 4(1) of the Act by providing that any grenade, rifle grenade and any de-activated restricted or prohibited firearm are also prohibited devices and firearms and may not be possessed. Furthermore the clause provides that the Minister may declare any specified type of ammunition to be prohibited ammunition.

2.6 Clause 6

The clause amends section 5 of the Act by deleting "a muzzle loading firearm" as a device that is not regarded as a firearm. This is a consequential amendment as a result of the substitution of the definition of a "firearm".

2.7 Clause 7

2.7.1 The clause amends section 6 of the Act by inserting subsection (1A) that provides that a competency certificate, licence, permit or authorisation may be issued to an applicant for a firearm who is between the age of 18 and 21 years if there are compelling reasons to do so.

2.7.2 The clause also inserts subsection (1B) that provides that if a person between the age of 18 and 21 years applies for a firearm licence, permit or authorisation, he or she must have been under the supervision of a person who is over the age of 21 years and who has held a firearm licence for at least three years.

2.8 Clause 8

The clause amends section 7 of the Act by inserting subsection (1A) that provides that a representative of a juristic person must hold an executive or managerial position in that juristic person.

2.9 Clause 9

This clause amends section 8 of the Act by providing for the chairperson or authorised office bearer of an accredited association to verify the application made by a member of the accredited association regarding the use, purpose and category of the firearm applied for, as well as the motivation for the application. The new subsections (8) to (9) provide that the Registrar must consider the verification by the accredited association when considering the application of a member of that association, but the Registrar may also verify such information independently and may also refuse of the application on good cause.

2.10 Clause 10

2.10.1 The clause seeks to delete subsection (4) that currently provides for the coming to the end of a disqualification of a person who became or was declared unfit to possess a firearm in terms of the Act or the previous Act upon the expiry of a period of five years from the date on which the person became or was declared unfit.

2.10.2 The clause further amends section 9(5) by providing that the Registrar may allow a person between the age of 18 years and 21 years to apply for a competency certificate if there are compelling reasons. In addition, the subsection seeks to delete the inclusion of being a private collector of firearms as a compelling reason.

2.10.3 The clause further seeks to add subsection (7) that provides for the Registrar to temporarily suspend the processing of an application for a competency certificate where the applicant for a competency certificate has been issued with an interim protection order in terms of the Domestic Violence Act, 1998 (Act No. 116 of 1998), or the Protection from Harassment Act, 2011 (Act No. 17 of 2011), until the final determination of the interim protection order.

2.10.4 The addition of subsection (8) provides that the applicant must disclose to the Registrar if the applicant has had any protection order served on him or her and any failure to do so is a criminal offence.

2.10.5 In terms the new subsection (9), a competency certificate may not be issued to a person who has been convicted for any offence which has an element of violence or sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine.

2.11 Clause 11

2.11.1 Clause 11 of the Bill amends section 10 of the Act by providing that a competency certificate must now specify whether it also relates to a dedicated sports person, a dedicated hunter or a professional hunter, amongst the other purposes for which a firearm is required by the applicant. The clause also inserts subsection (1)(c) in order to provide that the competency certificate must specify the period of validity of the competency certificate and any other information as may be prescribed. The clause also amends section 10 providing that a competency certificate shall remain valid for a period of 5 years from the date of issue, unless terminated or renewed in terms of the Act

2.11.2 The clause further deletes subsection (3) that provides for the lapsing of a competency certificate after ten years from the date of its issue.

2.12 Clause 12

2.12.1 Clause 12 of the Bill amends section 10A of the Act which provides for the renewal of competency certificates by seeking to provide that applications for renewal of competency certificates must be made at least 90 days before the date of expiry of such competency certificate.

2.12.2 The clause also deletes subsection (2) that provides that a holder of a competency certificate relating to a muzzle loading firearm who wishes to renew the competency certificate must apply for renewal at least 90 days before the date of its expiry.

2.13 Clause 13

Clause 13 seeks to insert a new section 11A in the Act that provides that an applicant must state that he or she intends to possess the firearm for any one or more of the reasons set out in the Act; and must provide written proof and evidence to the satisfaction of the Registrar in relation to the requirements set out in the Act and prescribed for requiring a firearm

2.14 Clause 14

2.14.1 Clause 14 amends section 12 of the Act that deals with additional licences.

The clause seeks to delete in subsection (1) the reference to the provisions of section 13 (that relates to a licence to possess a firearm for self-defence purposes) and the provisions of section 14 (that relates to a licence to possess restricted firearms for self-defence). Subsection (1) is further sought to be amended by providing that the Registrar may issue an additional firearm licence for occasional hunting and sports-shooting as well as a licence for dedicated hunting and dedicated sports-shooting to a family member who resides in the same household as the holder of such licence.

2.14.2 The clause further seeks to amend subsection (3) by providing that if the holder of the licence and the holder of the additional licence are no longer residing in the same household, the holder of the additional licence must return the licence to the Registrar, failing which a criminal penalty is provided for.

2.15 Clause 15

2.15.1 Clause 15 seeks to repeal sections 13 and 14 of the Act. Section 13 provides for a licence to possess a firearm for self-defence purposes. The consequence of the repeal of section 13 is that the Registrar may not issue a licence to any natural person who needs a firearm for self-defence.

This clause also seeks to delete section 14 of the Act that provides a licence to possess a restricted firearm for self-defence. The consequence of the deletion of section 14 is that a semi-automatic rifle or shotgun, which cannot readily be converted into a fully automatic firearm or a firearm declared by the Minister in the Gazette to be a restricted firearm, may not be issued to any natural person who requires it for self-defence.

2.16 Clause 16

2.16.1 Clause 16 of the Bill amends section 15 of the Act which provides for a licence to possess a firearm for occasional hunting and sports-shooting. The clause provides that a firearm licence for occasional hunting or sport-shooting purposes may be only be issued if the applicant is the owner or lawful occupier of property where occasional hunting or occasional sport-shooting will take place or if the applicant produces documentary proof of permission by the said owner or lawful occupier to engage in occasional hunting or occasional sport-shooting on the said property.

2.16.2 The clause further inserts a new subsection (3A) that limits the number of firearm licences that a person may hold in terms of section 15 by providing that the number of firearm licences that a person may hold in terms of this section must be reduced by the number of firearms licences that the person holds in terms of any other section under the Act.

2.17 Clause 17

2.17.1 Clause 17 of the Bill seeks to amend section 16 of the Act, which deals with licences for dedicated hunting and dedicated sports-shooting purposes, by providing in section 16(1) that a firearm licence may be issued for a handgun, rifle or shotgun which is not prohibited, instead of a handgun, rifle or shotgun which is not fully automatic.

2.17.2 The clause seeks to also amend subsection (2) by the adding that the sworn statement or solemn declaration made by the chairperson of an accredited hunting or sports-shooting organisation must state that the applicant has actively participated in hunting or shooting events of the association and that the applicant has, during the preceding 24 months complied with the requirements of being awarded with a dedicated hunter or dedicated sports-person status.

2.17.3 The clause further inserts subsections (5) to (13) to the section, These provisions provides for a limitation on the number of licences that a person may hold in terms of this section. In principle, a person may not hold more than six licences in terms of this section. A dedicated hunter or dedicated sports-shooter may not hold more than two licences each in respect of a handgun, semi-automatic rifle or semi-automatic shotguns. A semi-automatic rifle or a semi-automatic shotgun may only be registered if the applicant has maintained a dedicated status as a sports-shooter or hunter for a period of at least two years and continues to hold such status. The application for a licence must be accompanied by a written motivation containing the minimum specified information and the motivation must be supported by the chairperson of the relevant hunting or sports-shooting association. The association must also provide a report to the Registrar on the status of all its members.

2.18 Clause 18

Clause 18 amends section 16A of the Act, which deals with licences for professional hunting, by adding subsections (5) to (12) to the section. The proposed amendments seek to restrict the number of licences issued to a professional hunter to not more than eight licences. The application must be accompanied by a written motivation containing the minimum specified information as provided for in subsection (7) and the motivation must be supported by the chairperson of the professional hunting association. The association must also provide a report to the Registrar on the status of all its members.

2.19 Clause 19

2.19 Clause 19 of the Bill seeks to repeal sections 17 and 18 of the Act. Section 17 deals with firearm licence for private collection. Section 18 of the Act provides for a permit to possess ammunition in a private collection.

2.20 Clause 20

2.20.1 Clause 20 seeks to amend section 20 of the Act that provides for licence to possess firearms for business purposes. The clause amends subsection (1) by including a restricted firearm for which a firearm licence may not ordinarily be issued, subject to exceptions. The clause provides that a restricted firearm may be issued to a security service provider, a game rancher, a person who is accredited to conduct business in hunting and any person who is accredited to use firearms for such other business as determined by the Registrar. The Registrar must consider the exceptions by taking into account the factors, including a genuine need for the use of a firearm that is provided for in the clause.

2.20.2 The clause adds subsections (8) to (13) in section (20). In terms of subsection (8), the Private Security Industry Regulatory Authority must inform the Registrar of any change in circumstances that relate to the status of the registration or ownership of a security service provider, or any other material change or reason that impacts on the licencing, re-licencing or disposal of firearms in the possession of such security service provider. The association that accredits a trainer in the use of firearms, a person who provides firearms for use in theatrical, film or television productions, a game rancher, a person who conducts business in hunting or such other business purpose must inform the Registrar of any change in circumstances relating to the status of the registration or ownership of the business of the accredited person.

2.20.3 Subsection (9) provides that the Registrar must, at the request of the Private Security Industry Regulatory Authority submit a list of all firearms registered to a particular security service provider within 30 days of the request.

7. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

7.1 The Constitution prescribes procedure for the classification of Bills, therefore a Bill must be correctly classified so that it does not become inconsistent with the Constitution.

7.2 The Office of the Chief State Law Adviser considered the Bill against the provisions of the Constitution relating to the tagging of Bills and against the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 (functional areas of concurrent national and provincial legislative competence) and Schedule 5 (functional areas of exclusive provincial legislative competence) to the Constitution.

7.3 The established test for classification of a Bill is that any Bill whose provisions in substantial measure fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution must be classified in terms of that Schedule. The process is concerned with the question of how the Bill should be considered by the provinces and in the National Council of Provinces. Furthermore, how a Bill must be considered by the provincial legislatures depends on whether it affects the provinces. The more the Bill affects the interests, concerns and capacities of the provinces, the more say the provinces should have on the contents of the Bill.

7.4 The issue to be determined is whether the proposed amendments to the Act, as contained in the Bill, in substantial measure, fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.

7.5 The Bill amends the Act to accommodate the deficiencies identified in the implementation of the Act and consequential amendments to the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2006.

7.6 The Bill generally provides the control and licensing of firearms; the verification of applications for firearm licences by an accredited association; the alignment of the control over muzzle loading firearms with the control over firearms; the period of validity for competency certificates and the period of renewal competency certificates; renewal of firearm licences on application before expiry of the licence, failure of which attracts an administrative penalty; the designation of a Designated Firearms Officer at each police station to improve the control over firearms in possession of the police and other Official Institutions; monitoring firearms in the possession of private security service providers; the regulation of muzzle loading firearms; the ballistic sampling of firearms of Official Institutions; transitional provisions in respect of licensing of percussion cap-and-ball firearms; The Bill provides for ballistic sampling of the firearm by the Designated Firearms Officer in the event of change in ownership, in which case the original owner must ensure that the firearm is submitted to, before the renewal or before the ownership of the firearm is transferred to any other person; the ballistic sampling of all firearms licensed in terms of the Act, inclusive of firearms for occasional and dedicated sports shooting and hunting, collection, subject to the ability of the firearm to be safely fire and the availability of ammunition, as well as firearms intended or business purposes, including for purposes of the rendering of security services.

7.7 The Bill provides for the transitional arrangements for persons who were licensed to possess firearms under the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969, and never renewed their firearms as required by the Act. In terms of the provision a period of two years which may be extended by the Minister with approval of Parliament for another two years, is provided for the relicensing of such firearms, which means that the relicensing must occur within two years of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2020.

7.8 The proposed amendments reflected have been carefully examined to establish whether, in substantial measure, they fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.

7.9 In the view of the Office of the Chief State Law Adviser, the subject matter of the proposed amendments does not fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution and it does not affect provinces.

7.10 The Office of the Chief State Law Adviser is therefore of the opinion that since this Bill does not deal with any of the matters listed in Schedule 4 of the Constitution, it must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure set out in section 75 of the Constitution.

7.11 The Office of the Chief State Law Adviser is also of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
