More women murdered

Women's Month a stark reminder of how far we have to go before South Africa is truly safe for women

While the latest quarterly crime statistics (April to June 2023) show that 196 fewer people were murdered compared to 2022, forty more women were killed.

In total 895 women were murdered in these 3 months – an average of 10 women every day.

Guns remain the weapon of choice to murder in SA – 46% of analysed murders in April to June were shooting-related.

Research consistently shows that easy access to guns increases the risk that a woman will be murdered by an intimate partner.

Women are taught from a young age to fear “stranger danger”. Yet women and girls are most at risk from men they know.

“Femicide is predictable because it usually follows prior incidents of abuse.”

Warning signs that a woman is at risk of being murdered

Studies show that a woman is at high risk of being killed by an intimate male partner when the partner has:

- Direct access to a gun
- Tried to strangle her
- Raped her
- Threatened to harm her
- Threatened her with a weapon
- Shown controlling behaviours

Our submission to the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights was included in its report on the Impact of the civilian acquisition, possession and use of firearms. The report includes a series of recommendations to mitigate the negative human rights impacts of the civilian firearms industry.

We attended a 3-day Policing Indaba hosted by the Police and Prisons Civil Rights Union. With the aim of finding solutions to SA's crime situation, the importance of effective gun control was a key feature of discussions.
